St. Alban's Church Bazaar Very Successful

Tombola Winners Are Listed;
Mrs. R. Slugg Won Handsome Cake.

The bazaar held on Saturday and sponsored by St. Alban's Ladies Guild is said to have been one of the most successful bazaar in the guild's history. Added to this is the revenue derived from a successful tombola draw which was held in connection with the bazaar. So many ladies attended the bazaar that the Guild members found themselves hard pressed to serve their patrons.

The handsome cake donated yearly to the bazaar by Mrs. Jack Richards was won by Mrs. R. Slugg, of east Coleman. Tickets sold at 2 for 25c and gave the guild additional revenue at the bazaar.

Tombola winners were: Electric toaster won by Mrs. M. Clifford, Toronto, No. 279; $5 groceries won by Mrs. F. Hill, Bellevue, No. 726; $5 war certificate won by Mrs. G. Morgan, No. 235; Pillow cases and sheets won by A. E. Graham, No. 341; silk cushion won by Kenneth Jackson, No. 187; turkey won by Bob. Pattinson, No. 250; water set won by Mrs. D. The Ladies of the Guild thank sincerely all who donated or contributed in any way towards the success of the bazaar.

Ladies Auxiliary B.E.S.L. to Collect Bundles-For-Britain

Depots Set Up in Second Street and Grafton-town; Desire Clean, Mended Clothing
If Possible

Once again the Ladies Auxiliary, B.E.S.L. appeals to Coleman citizens for new or used clothing with which to make Bundles-For-Britain parcels.

An appeal for such bundles has recently been received by the auxiliary from provincial headquarters in Calgary. Last year the local Auxiliary received good support from many townspeople and it is anticipated that the same sterling support will be given this year.

Material for these bundles should be clean and, if in need of repair, mended whenever possible. By donating clean and mended clothing it lightens the load of responsibility placed on the local auxiliary and also the provincial headquarters workers who must see that all clothing is in good condition for shipment.

Depots have been set up in the homes of Mrs. H. Turner, Second street; Mrs. J. Lonsbury, Second street, and Mrs. T. Rose, Grafton-town. Persons having good used clothing are asked to donate them to help alleviate in small part the suffering of British bomb victims.

One of the greatest lessons of life is to learn not to do what one likes, but to like what one does.

Catch Twelve Frequenters and Operator; Appeared in Court
Monday Morning

On Sunday evening between 9 and ten o'clock the two local policemen, aided by two officers of the R.C.M.P., Blairmore detachment, raided a gambling den in the block owned by Mr. Goopy on main street west.

Twelve frequenters and the operator was caught with games in progress. All appeared before Magistrate Antrobus on Monday morning in local court and pleaded guilty. The twelve frequenters were fined $5 and costs and the operator $25 and costs.

According to the police the frequenters were both single and married men and were more or less strangers to Coleman.

WEDDINGS

JENKINS - SMOLIK

A wedding of much local interest was solemnized at St. Paul's United church, Coleman, in the presence of many relatives and friends, Saturday, Nov. 21, at 3 p.m., when Wanda Veronica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Smolik, was united in marriage with Trooper John Mathew Jenkins, of the 31st Reconnaissance Regiment near Victoria, B.C., son of Mr. Robert Jenkins and the late Mrs. John Jenkins.

The bride presented a charming appearance as she entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, gown in white satin inserted with lace in a sweetheart neck line and wearing a full length tulle train which was carried by two little train bearers, Nellie Smolik, sister of the bride, and Sophie Badzioch, who were also in white gowns. The bride's bouquet was roses and callalilies.

Miss Wanda Kwasney, dressed in blue and Miss Joyce Chouinard, dressed in rose and carrying bouquets of roses and mums attended the bride while James Douglas, a younger brother of the groom, and Trooper Gordon Marconi, also of the 31st Reconnaissance Regiment, supported the groom. Rev. J. E. Kirk officiated at the marriage service.

Following the service a reception was given and a sumptuous and delicious wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's train was adorned with roses, callalilies and mums, and a large artistically trimmed three layer wedding cake. The dinner was prefaced by the officiating minister, who later proposed the toast to the bride, which was ably responded to by the groom. Suitable gifts were presented to the attendants, and an exchange between the bride and groom.

The happy young couple left Monday for Calgary and other Alberta points on a wedding trip before the groom returns to his unit near Victoria. The best wishes of their many friends go with them.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION STILL BEING INVESTIGATED

Determined to explore every avenue of investigation relative to workmen's compensation, the special legislative committee investigating the Alberta act and its workings have conferred with E. S. H. Wynn, chairman of the British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board, a veteran of 40 years' service in the work, of which 27 years has been spent in his present capacity. Also called to assist the committee is Marshall Dawson of Washington, D. C., labor economist with the U.S. government labor standards division. Mr. Dawson was making a routine trip through this territory and the committee took advantage of his presence to call him in. It is anticipated that the committee will adjourn next week and reconvene in December to prepare a report for submission to the Legislature.

Miners Wanted

Ask Former Coal Miners For Aid

Labor Minister Mitchell appealed Sunday night to employers in Western Canada to grant leave of absence from their jobs to any former coal miners, enabling the miners to help relieve a coal shortage caused by tremendously increased demand for the fuel.

A departmental announcement said the coal shortage constituted a "national emergency." It said due to growth of war industries and army and air force camps the demand for coal had increased tremendously and mines previously operated on a seasonal basis now were forced to work 12 months a year. This had created "a severe shortage of skilled miners."

The announcement said Mr. Mitchell, in collaboration with the four western provincial governments, the mine operators and the representatives of the miners, is appealing to the mayors of Western Canada and to all employers situated between the head of the Great Lakes and Vancouver to canvass their employees to see if there are any skilled coal miners among them.

The appeal is issued regardless of the essentiality of the industries, the announcement said.

The mayors and employers are asked to grant leave of absence from their jobs, with protection of their seniority and pension rights, to ex-coal miners. The government will pay transportation costs to the job and return fare after 30 days' work, to skilled men willing to return to the mines, the department said.

The statement continued: "Wages will be those negotiated by employees' organization and approved by the national war labor board for the various coal fields. Volunteers are asked to contact the nearest employment and selective service office, or regional superintendents, national selective service, in Winnipeg or Vancouver.

Ironsides & Park Dry Cleaning Plant To Close Saturday

Started Plant Here in March
1910 and Had Built Up Good Business; Lack of Help at Lethbridge Plant Given As Reason.

Coleman's flourishing dry cleaning plant has become a victim of wartime conditions. On Saturday it is scheduled to close its doors for the duration.

This announcement was made by Manager George Homulus on Tuesday morning and an announcement to that effect was carried in an advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

The local plant is owned and operated by Ironsides & Park, Dry Cleaners, of Lethbridge. Since the departure of the former local manager, Bert Collier, the Lethbridge plant has been operating with a man shortage as Mr. Homulus, who had been with the plant since 1926, was sent here to manage the local plant.

Business at the city plant has increased and it has been necessary to enlarge the premises making the labor shortage more acute than ever. Efforts to sell the local plant seem to have been futile and hence the decision to close on Saturday.

Mrs. Homulus and children will leave Coleman for Lethbridge on Monday next. Mr. Park, of Lethbridge, will arrive in town on Sunday and with Mrs. Homulus will attempt to final details concerning the local plant and its equipment. Mr. Homulus expects to leave Coleman during the middle of next week.

The latter came here Aug. 29 following the departure of Bert Collier to New Westminster, who had managed the plant almost

Palm Confectionery Closed Door on Saturday Evening

Floyd Celli, Proprietor, Enlists in Active Army; Returns Friday.

War's manpower demands has caused the closing down of another old and well established business on main street. This time it is the Palm Confectionery which has been forced to close its doors due to the enlistment in the active army of the proprietor, Floyd Celli. He is scheduled to report to military authorities in Calgary on Friday.

Mr. Celli has endeavored to sell his business for the past few months but has failed.

No statement has been made as to the final disposition of the business. Floyd has stated that if he failed to sell the business he was left no other course than to board up the windows.

War is beginning to make inroads on local business houses as this is the second store to close its door; this week with one and possibly more destined to close up at the end of the year.

Coleman Girl in Precision Squad

from its opening in 1940 and had built up a good business. The plant still enjoys brisk business but the manpower shortage in these war times has forced its closing.

Firms May Not Get Workers If Discrimination Shown

National Selective Service Headquarters warned Canadian employers, discrimination against workers for reason of race, color or creed may result in all their labor supplies being cut off.

War contractors, for security reasons, are prohibited from employing certain classes of aliens and the officers are instructed to learn from security officials of these contractors the exact regulations applying to their plants and to conform to these regulations. Except for these circumstances, discrimination regulations apply.

War Conditions May Curtailed Bank Services

President of The Canadian Bankers Association Gives Forecast

At the 51st annual meeting of The Canadian Bankers Association, Charles St. Pierre, president of the Association, stated that the number of men employed by the Canadian chartered banks had been decreased by nearly 5,000 since start of the war, chiefly by enlistments in the armed forces. Of the male employees of military age in September, 1939, over 5,000 or 35 per cent have enlisted. The proportion of women on the roster of all employees has jumped from less than 22 per cent to more than 52 per cent.

"The nation is moving toward the channelling of its man and woman power more and more to the armed forces and war industry," he pointed out. "It is inevitable that during the next few months we shall be impelled by national war requirements to diminish quite sharply, and in some cases to eliminate, certain services which have been for many years a part of the banking business."

"It is not possible to forecast just what services will be eliminated, but the public can be sure that whatever is done will result only from pressure of war. We shall look forward to the day when, with this world conflict happily ended, our full services to the public may be restored."

"The role of the chartered banks is to serve the public and the government, to help in every phase of war finance, to aid the nation defeat inflation, to facilitate the ordinary requirements of business, to stand ready at all times to meet any demands of depositors, and thus to contribute their utmost to sustaining the high confidence, the morale and the courage of the people of Canada. This, I submit, the chartered banks of Canada have done and are doing patriotically and well."

Lions Club Entertained Air Cadets On Monday

Cadet Committee, Bellevue
Cadet N.C.O.'s and Lions Guests
Enjoy Banquet and Social Evening

35 Air Cadets from Coleman unit, their officers and committee, three N.C.O.'s from Bellevue, and three Lions' guests as well as a goodly number of Lions sat down to a sumptuous banquet on Monday evening. The occasion was to give the cadets a banquet and social evening and to show them and their officers and committee how their efforts were being appreciated by the Lions club in building up a worthwhile cadet organization in Coleman.

Stuart Murdoch, of the air cadet committee, introduced his old members including George Evans, Frank Aboussay, S. C. Short, Fred Guorard, and three new members Herb Sherratt, A. E. Graham and Geo. Jenkins. Pit. Lieut. H. Houghton introduced his staff of instructors which included F. O. P. Dickson, P. O. W. S. Purvis, P. O. H. Allen and P. O. R. Spillers.

Jim Cousins presided at the piano and many popular songs were lustily sung. Following supper when all introductions had been made President Bob. Pattinson started a quiz along the same lines as the popular "Take it or Leave it" radio program, only cents were involved in the quiz rather than dollars. Only two cadets succeeded in winning the 64 cent question. In another quiz contest pertaining to the training of air cadets each of the boys were successful in winning a monetary prize.

At conclusion of the festivities the Lions received three cheers and a tiger from their grateful young guests.

WARNINGS ARE GIVEN THAT SUBMARINES ARE GREATEST THREAT TO ALLIED VICTORY

London.—Warnings came from several quarters in Britain the last few days that the submarine still is the greatest threat to Allied victory.

"If we could conquer the submarine, Churchill would be able to say this is the beginning of the end and not the end of the beginning," a high government source said in warning that the seriousness of ship sinkings cannot be over-emphasized.

Sir Stafford Cripps told the commons: "The most serious problem facing us is that of the U-boat menace." A. V. Alexander warned in an address: "There is no final victory yet in the greatest of all our problems. U-boats at sea."

Behind, these warnings to the country, which has been inclined to become over-optimistic over the Anglo-American success in French North Africa and the victory of the 8th Army in Egypt, is the realization that, as Sir Stafford said, "sea power remains the vital key to our success and a first charge upon our resources."

While U-boats roam the oceans inflicting heavy damage—even at great cost that power is menaced. And during the last few weeks shipping losses have mounted after a long period of comparative lull.

The reason for the increased losses is authoritatively explained by the fact it took some 350 warships to guard the great convoy of 500 merchant ships to North Africa. Some of these had been taken off other convoy runs. The secret of success against U-boats is escort ships and with the numbers of these reduced, the Germans were able to inflict damage heavier than usual.

Undersea warfare now being carried on is on a far greater scale than in the last war. The Germans have far more submarines at sea and have inflicted immensely greater losses than in 1914-18 at the same time losing three times as many U-boats as were lost in that conflict. Little more than a week ago, Alexander announced that more than 570 submarines have been sunk or damaged so far in the second Great War.

Persons counting upon aerial bombing to erase the menace of the U-boat will gain little support from official sources who state that the Germans are turning out submarines faster than the Allies can destroy them on the ways or sink them at sea.

And there is little comfort to be drawn from the fact that many crews now manning the undersea raiders are inexperienced. It is true U-boats now at sea may not be as successful as were those of the veteran commanders and crew resting at the bottom of the ocean or in prison camps but their numbers make up for lack of experience.

Alcan Highway Is Described As A Splendid Job

Whitehorse, Y.T.—Archibald McEachern of Whitehorse, who drove the first civilian passenger automobile over the Alaska highway from Dawson Creek, B.C., to Whitehorse, in an interview here described the road as "a really good job for the time they have been working on it."

McEachern, assistant district airways engineer for Canadian department of transport, was accompanied by brother Fred McEachern, of Edmonton. Both formerly lived in Regina.

Civilian traffic on the road is prohibited until after the war. McEachern's trip was authorized as an essential wartime business. The "pioneer" road from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks was begun last March by United States army engineers. War Secretary Henry Stimson announced in October traffic was moving over all sections weeks ahead of schedule.

McEachern arrived at Whitehorse four days after leaving Edmonton Nov. 13, and said his actual driving time was 60 hours. His speedometer registered 1,525 miles but McEachern says about 25 miles of road was quite slippery. McEachern said completion of the road was "amazing, the bulk of the road not started before August 1, and the first preliminary trail was not into Watson Lake until September 3." McEachern made the trip in a late model sedan.

BOMBING RAIDS

Italian Production Centres Likely To Revolve Attention

Washington.—Members of the Pacific war council said there was a possibility that "mass bombing" raids would be directed at production centres in northern Italy.

Walter Nash, New Zealand's minister to the United States, spoke of the North African campaign as opening the way for Italy to receive some of the devastating raids on key industries, comparable to those the R.A.F. has directed on German war plants, with what he termed "amazing" effectiveness.

Gathering at the White House, representatives of the nations actively engaged in the war in the Pacific said it was perhaps their most significant meeting.

Leighton McCarthy, the Canadian minister, suggested that probably the raids could originate in England, but Nash said any available jumping-off points might be used.

The New Zealanders said they had devoted considerable time to what he termed the "ninth front", which he said was the air front. They also considered, he said, other fronts leading up to the ninth.

He listed the fronts as the Solomon Islands, New Guinea, the Middle East, North Africa, Burma, China, the Alaskan islands, the Atlantic and the bombing front. In addition, he said, the Russians alone are fighting on six fronts.

IMPROVED PLANE

Spitfire Fighter With Larger Engine Is Now In Operation

London.—A new, improved Vickers-Supermarine Spitfire fighter plane, with a bigger engine and four-bladed propeller, is in operational use, the air ministry has disclosed.

Speed and horsepower of the new fighter are military secrets, but it is powered with the Rolls Royce Merlin "61" engine instead of the Merlin "45" or "46". It carries two cannon and four machine-guns in the wings. Its lines are almost identical with previous Spitfire models except that it has a longer nose to accommodate the bigger engine. The four-bladed propeller provides greater blade area to absorb increased power output.

SCARS OF BATTLE

Are Quickly Forgotten In French North Africa

With the American Forces at Oran.—The scars of battle are quickly being forgotten in French North Africa where the basis for a new French army to fight the Axis has been reached.

French officials under the reported agreement reached by high Allied and French officers, will clean out Fascist groups with the silent blessing of the Allies. The political aspects of the situation appear to be working out satisfactorily. Even French naval officers who bore the brunt of resistance to the Allied seizure of North Africa, now are dropping their cold manner and becoming increasingly friendly with the Allies.

Many French army officers aided the invasion forces. One garrison commander, it has been learned, sent his men into battle against the Americans with only three bullets. And some of those bullets were used not against the Yanks but against pro-Fascist French troops.

Meanwhile, all American soldiers taken prisoner during the battle for Oran have been released to rejoin their units. Funerals for the French and American dead have been held at a military hospital with full military honors by both armies.

No one is safe from tuberculosis until every one is safe. Christmas Seals help to make every one safe.

With Daring And Skill They Dispatched A German Sub

SUB-LIEUT. LAWRENCE

PETTY OFFICER POWELL

LT.-COMM. C. A. KING

SEAMAN DRINKWATER

H.M.C.S. OAKVILLE—CORVETTE

Full of daring and skill these men have brought back to Canada a story packed with drama of how their Canadian corvette "Oakville" dispatched a U-boat. After the corvette had rammed the submarine three times, Sub-Lieut. Harold Lawrence, R.C.N.V.R., and Stoker Petty Officer Arthur James Powell of Timmins Ont. boarded the vessel, captured the commander, shot two Nazis who attacked them and subdued the rest while the submarine was sinking under them. Lieut. Commander Clarence A. King, R.C.N.V.R., captain of the "Oakville", is shown above also. Ordinary Seaman Robert Drinkwater of Montreal is pictured stripping the Lewis gun he used on the night the H.M.C.S. "Oakville" attacked the Nazi submarine.

LAVAL HAS HOPES OF GETTING VOLUNTEERS FOR FRENCH ARMY TO FIGHT THE ALLIED NATIONS

New York.—Pierre Laval announced his hope of recruiting a French army to fight the Allies and warned his countrymen that an Allied victory would force them "to submit to the domination of Communists and Jews," said Associated Press.

In a broadcast speech adhering closely to Axis propaganda tenets, he said:

"From what has happened in North Africa we have discovered the fate that awaits us tomorrow if Roosevelt gets away with it. We would have to submit to a domination of Communists and Jews."

"An entente with Germany is the only guarantee for peace in Europe. We are again seeking reconciliation and entente with Germany."

The Vichy dictator then said his government would not object to formation of "a volunteer legion" to defend France, a clear indication of Laval's attempt to steer his countrymen into an Axis military alliance.

"This volunteer legion," he said, "will arise and carry a new answer to the injury done France and her empire."

Laval accused the United States and Britain of "tearing away bit by bit" the French empire because of their own losses in the Pacific.

Laval said he was certain of a German victory, "but I decided to follow the same policy if she had been beaten."

Touching on his pre war efforts to conciliate Germany and Italy he said:

"I have always wanted peace. I have wanted it with America. In the days before my return to power, Roosevelt, who already had prepared his offensive against our empire, did not hesitate to say that my presence at the head of the government would affect gravely the relations between our countries."

"In America I am treated as a Fascist, I like liberty. But I will never accept for my country a parliamentary government as we had before."

Laval disclosed in his speech that a great many Frenchmen are listening to the BBC in London and an overseas radio station in Boston.

"Frenchmen," he appealed, "understand that you must not allow yourselves to be deceived and abused by foreign propaganda. The London and Boston radios have a single aim. Don't let your spirits be misled to serve interests that are not yours."

Laval's 15-minute speech was a careful one in which he sought to assure his people that Germany cannot lose the war, that the Nazis are fighting heroically against Communistic Russia.

He warned that food shortages are coming, a result of Anglo-American occupation of North Africa—a source of heavy supplies for the Axis before that occupation. He made no mention of the fact that the Germans who looted occupied France for more than two years now have extended themselves over the rest of the country.

As for himself Laval said he is a "man of peace," a selfless servant interested only in France, "and not animated by partisan ideals."

COAL SHORTAGE

Ask For Release Of Miners In Military Training Camps

Edmonton.—Utilization of Alberta miners now in military training camps to work in mines to relieve Alberta's acute coal shortage has been suggested to federal authorities, it was announced by Walter S. Campbell, regional administrator for the wartime prices board here.

He said he had learned there were many such miners now in military camps. He believed their temporary release to work in the mines would do much to relieve the coal situation.

Meanwhile, Edmonton coal dealers said that only through the absence of sub-zero weather during the next several days can a serious situation be avoided in the city. The dealers are as much as three weeks behind with deliveries and are flooded with orders from householders and business blocks running dangerously short of coal.

Coal shortages have been reported from various parts of the province.

SEED GRAIN

Temporary Suspension Of Shipments From West To East

Ottawa.—Temporary suspension of rail shipments of seed grain from western country stations to eastern Canada has been ordered by the Canadian wheat board, it was learned here.

Ottawa sources said the order had been imposed because some cars shipped directly from prairie country points had contained a large amount of dockage, ranging from one to 26 per cent in various cars.

Only limited quantities had been shipped direct from country points, as most of the seed grain went through the terminal elevators at the Lakeshead and was cleaned there.

Another factor in imposing the order was the need of railway car space for the movement of feed grain to eastern Canada.

Allied Losses In African Convoys Reported Small

London.—An authoritative source said that losses in the Allied convoys used for the expedition in French North Africa were remarkably small despite the enemy's known concentration of 50 submarines against that operation alone.

His statement was made in predicting further important naval operations in the Mediterranean.

Except for one ship, all vessels in the Allied convoys had landed troops and material before they were damaged, the informant said.

Prime Minister Churchill announced that 13 enemy submarines had been sunk off North Africa. Others have been reported damaged.

The informant, who cannot be named, said it was indicated that at least 30 Axis submarines were between Gibraltar and Bizerte during the passage of the Allied convoys, and this number later was increased to 50. It has been indicated authoritatively that 850 surface vessels—warships and merchantmen—took part in the vast African expedition.

British submarines, he continued, are giving the same attention to Axis efforts to reinforce the contingents in Tunisia as they did to Marshal Rommel's earlier efforts to get supplies across the Mediterranean to his forces in Egypt. He predicted it would be difficult from a supply standpoint for the Axis to maintain a foothold in Africa. Bengasi, he said, has been "immobilized" as a supply point, and Tripoli, the chief Axis base in Libya, "no doubt will be dealt with pretty thoroughly by our strong air forces which are daily acquiring bases closer and closer to that point."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Aid to Russia

"Help for Brave Ally is Aim of Aid to Russia Fund." This is the caption of an article sent out by the chairman of the fund, J. S. McLean, head of Canada Packers, Limited, Toronto. Many prominent people are associated with Mr. McLean in this appeal, including the lieutenant-governors and their wives of Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and New Brunswick.

The appeal states that in addition to sending the medical and other supplies so desperately needed by Russian people, a valuable contribution can be made by our effort in the creation of a sympathetic understanding between the Russian and Canadian people. We are fighting this war with the magnificent help of the Russians and they deserve all the aid we can give.

We shall have to live together in the same world with them after the war and whatever can be done to increase understanding and co-operation between the two nations is all to the good.

In Britain Mrs. Churchill's Aid to Russia fund commenced in October, 1941, and to date has collected approximately $10,000,000. The fund has been organized to provide an opportunity to Canadians to send to the Russian people the body-warming clothing, the healing medicines and heart-warming sympathy and friendship that they need in their hour of crisis and suffering.

Contributions may be sent to the head office of the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund, Room 205, 80 King st. W., Toronto.

The Why and Wherefore

Concerning Russia, there has been criticism of its alliance with Germany in this war. The statement has been made that it did not hesitate to take part in the partition of Poland when Germany marched in in 1931. Memories of this are bound to arise, and people far removed from the scene and without knowledge of the political reasons for Russia's action at that time, are bound to question it.

However this is no reason why help should be withheld. Our leaders of the United Nations have made it plain that Russia is making a gallant stand, which is proving of great assistance in holding Hitler's armies and thereby adding to the overthrow of his power. Our own self-preservation, as well as that of Russia, demands that united action be maintained by Great Britain, United States, China and other powers to crush the military caste in Germany who would make slaves of all peoples whose countries they have over-run.

The Church and the People

In a weekly newspaper there appeared a report of a farewell service to a minister. The church was filled, quite a contrast to the comparative few who attended during the years that the minister had served his parish and congregation.

The paper, commenting on the big attendance at the farewell, pointed out that a more faithful attendance and support of the minister during the years he had served would have been far more to the point than turning out in such large numbers to bid him farewell. Isn't this condition prevalent everywhere, in the cities as well as country towns?

Yet there is a sign that spiritual values are taking a greater hold on the people now that a war is raging. It is a fact that the help of God is sought more in times of crisis than when things are running smoothly. Yet many fail to recognize their obligation in this regard. We recall one man boasting that the only time he went to church was when he was married. It wasn't so very long after that one of his children died, and a church funeral service was held. Too often the services of the church and its ministers are ignored, but when ill fortune or death comes, it is ever ready to spread its mantle of help and spiritual comfort.

Still Allows Plenty

By order of the Liquor Control Board, no permit holder will be allowed to buy more than 40 ounces of liquor per day, a gallon of wine and a quantity of beer (amount not stated). It is safe to state that the average man seldom bought a bottle a day, and if he had a few "bucks" on Saturday afternoon after paying the butcher, the grocer and the rent, he was in clover. If his thoughts turned to a bottle of beer at $5.00, or $7.25 for Scotch, that might be the extent of his purchase for a whole week, and many weeks he wouldn't even buy that, for with present high prices the average working man isn't buying liquor, for the simple reason that he can't afford it.

The Temperance forces are continually hounding the Federal and provincial governments to stop the sale of liquor. Each "passes the buck," the reason being that there is such an immense revenue derived that if liquor sales were abolished, and the bars closed, the huge amount now derived from excise and license fees would have to be made up in additional taxation, which Temperance people as well as the drinkers would have to bear.

To tell the truth, the liquor purchasers pay more in taxation, according to the amount of their purchases, than is paid on any other line of goods. It is a source of revenue that no government is going to cast aside, for even now people are squawking over the additional burdens of taxation. Pile on several more millions by abolishing the sale of liquor, and see how popular the Temperance forces would become.

Besides, you can't legislate people into not drinking intoxicating liquor by Prohibition. There is something inherent in man that he wants something at times to relieve the tension of the daily grind. Tea or coffee will not suffice, neither will a glass of milk. It is this urge for a drink of whiskey or rum that, if Prohibition were in force, promotes illicit distilling and bootlegging. Canada's experience of Prohibition following the last war was that far more crimes were committed, particularly along the International border, than ever before. Hi-jacking was a common experience, shots were exchanged and at all times someone was killed. Keep government control by all means, but as for Prohibition, judged from the record, it creates far more evil and crime than under the control system.

We Must Be Careful

The director of censorship informs newspapers that items on arrival or departure of members of the armed forces, even when mentioning visits to their homes, and the areas where they are located, are liable to be of use to the enemy. Hence such items are watched by enemy agents, though the ordinary person may think that this is exaggeration.

For instance, innocently enough, a relative or friend may bring an item to a newspaper stating that a son or brother is home on embarkation leave, and that he expected to sail from an eastern port. Such information, possibly published in other newspapers concerning men in their home towns, will naturally convey the impression that there is to be a convoy leaving. Enemy agents will be on the lookout. Germany is quite close to Canada when the item is transmitted by radio is considered. News time from Canada to Berlin can be measured in minutes.

The Krug Incident

When Oberleutnant Hans Peter Krug was apprehended after his escape from a Canadian prisoner of war camp, he admitted to security officers that the purpose of his escape was to inform the Fatherland of the ill-treatment accorded German prisoners in Canada, including the shooting of officers and N.C.O.'s. He was fully aware that the authorities knew his story of shootings and ill-treatment was untrue but that it did not perturb Krug. He was remorseful that his little plan had not worked. For security officers—knowing full well that, had it worked, British prisoners in Germany would have paid the bill—we can only say to keep this false story of shootings and ill-treatment very much to themselves.

Weeks later, Krug appeared as a witness in the trial of a German-American who had befriended him and who had been arrested by the F.B.I.

Oberleutnant Krug had his chance! He unhesitatingly squealed on the man who befriended him but, at the same time, he gave his little song and dance about ill-treatment of German prisoners, including the shooting of German officers. The press of Canada and that of United States rose to the bait by publishing his untrue story and thereby made possible the handling of this story to the Gestapo.

Oberleutnant Krug's disappointment was short-lived. Where he had failed before he now succeeded through the aid of the Press. The enemy is murdering hostages in the occupied countries. This false item did little service to the victims. Once Krug had succeeded in getting his story published in a Canadian or United States newspaper he had accomplished his object.

Canadian Nutrition Program

The maintenance of Canadian health and morale is vital particularly during wartime when the utmost energy is required to keep up the pace of wartime industry. It also applies to those not actually working in factories producing munitions. In Britain where strict rationing of food has been in force for nearly three years, the health of the people is better than in peace times, due to the study of finding which foods are the most nutritious.

This policy is getting under way in Canada, and a national program is being prepared. Stores selling foodstuffs are being urged to advertise those articles which will give the best food values.

Employers in Britain have become so impressed with the value of seeing that their employees are sufficiently nourished, resulting in the reduction of absenteeism through various ills, that many factories and large stores have provided canteens at which nutritious lunches are provided. When the entire resources of a nation are required to wage total war, the maintenance of good health is all important. That is the reason the Canadian Nutrition Program is to be launched, and it will receive wide support. This is an important national job.

Cancer Diagnosis Is Free

Many people who have symptoms of cancer do not know of the service that is being rendered under the direction of Dr. H. Macdonald, Edmonton. The service is free. Any person suspecting symptoms of cancer should apply immediately to his local doctor, who will fill out the necessary forms, then the patient can enter the diagnostic clinic of the provincial government for an examination. This is a matter of saving lives, because if cancer can be caught early enough it can be cured. In one clinic held one day in Edmonton out of 32 cases of diagnostic cancer, 29 were definitely curable, stated Dr. Macdonald.

Blood--- or What?

Now that our side has begun to land a few blows in this war as well as partly them, we are beginning to look for offensive war on many fronts.

But if our offensives are to spell victory rather than disaster, they will have to begin far back of the beachheads that may be established by the fighting men. For the ultimate base of every successful offensive lies in the mines, the factories, the homes of Canada—wherever Canadian men and woman live their lives and do their work.

And if we all are to do our parts we shall have to get a new conception of the importance of time—a new yardstick by which to measure the value of time gained, the cost of time lost.

FOR TIME IS THE ESSENTIAL INGREDIENT OF VICTORY. Everyone knows that is true on the battlefield. The marines on the beach at Tulagi, the Commandos in the streets of Dieppe, had to make every second count. Those of us who have read the accounts of those stirring actions have raced, and sweat, and gasped with men who spent their last ounce of strength to make the most of every vital minute. What a travesty it would be for us to take their supreme efforts for granted and forget to duplicate them at our own jobs. We must set a new value on time, at home as well as at the front.

"We'll hold your place"

IN EVERY city, town and village throughout Canada today there are gaps where once were young men. They heard a call and put on navy blue, khaki, horizon blue, and they have gone, answering a call . . .

They are missed—missed not only in their homes but also in the business places which once they filled.

They have gone from every institution in Canada; but from none more than from the chartered banks. There is hardly a branch office from coast to coast which is not today the poorer—and the prouder—for those who thus laid down their pens.

But every branch manager, as he shook parting hands, had this consolation: he could say, "We'll hold your place. It will be waiting for you when you come back. That is a pledge."

So it is the part of those who remain to serve their country in such a way that the promise may be kept: "We'll hold your place."

There were 14,433 single and married men from 18 to 45 years of age employed by the Chartered Banks at the outbreak of war, 5,053—or 35% of them had joined the armed forces by October 31st, 1942; 1,243 others who joined bank staffs since war began have also enlisted.

Radio Interference Causes Complaint

Stuart Murdoch Successful In Finding Cause; Poor Reception Sunday, Monday And Tuesday

Exceptionally bad radio interference on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week resulted in some citizens making protests to the town police and having Stuart Murdoch trace the cause.

The area seemingly affected was the eastern section of third street and also a cluster of houses in the vicinity of the A. Wilson residence.

On Sunday evening Mr. Murdoch turned out one set of the street lights and so eliminated the disturbance. On Wednesday he worked hard tracing the trouble and seemingly was successful as Wednesday evening's report from the trouble area was "reception clear."

Death of May Robson

News of May Robson's death at Hollywood last week was read with regret by many an old timer in the Kootenays, for the grand old trouper was known to many here. Some thirty or more years ago she had her own company, and a good one, and made periodical trips through this part of the country. From Lethbridge she and her little company would drift west, playing the towns along the Crow, including Cranbrook, then over to Nelson and on to the coast, and up to Prince Rupert. Upon several occasions she played in the Cranbrook Auditorium, then a new building and considered one of the best show houses in the interior. Like Marie Dressler, she won her way into the hearts of the people. Verna Felton, still in the movies and frequently heard over the radio, is another of the old troupers who often came this way. But it must be admitted these old stagers are becoming scarce.—Cranbrook Courier.

Infantry Still Vital

A correspondent telling of his experiences in witnessing army manoeuvres in Britain, states: Chief function of an armoured division is to slash through enemy defences, penetrating and consolidating ground by means of tanks, armoured cars and motorized infantry. In a classic attack, it would follow the heavy tanks of an Army Tank Brigade in the initial breakthrough, then rapidly infiltrate and pave the way for fast-moving infantry. Such a division has its own support group of artillery and motorized infantry. It is self-contained, but not intended for static warfare or ground consolidation other than holding areas until regular infantry formations arrive. The ground fighting vehicles of an armoured division are exceptionally powerful and some can reach speeds in excess of 60 miles per hour. One of the chief functions of a motor battalion is to find and destroy enemy tanks. Equally important is the job of occupation of strong-points gained by the armoured advance and held until relief from regular infantry arrives.

Outlook Favorable for Aussie Crop

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP)—Growth conditions of the 1942-43 Australian wheat crop are continuing "very favorably" Frederick Palmer, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Melbourne said in a report received here by the Department of Trade and Commerce. "The Federal cabinet has approved a plan for the payment of the equivalent of 70 cents Canadian per bushel at country sidings on the first 3,000 bushels, with an advance of approximately 35 cents per bushel, less freight and handling charges, against any balance to be pooled and paid for as disposed of," he said.

Accidents Help The Axis

—Courtesy Canadian Pacific Railway.

Despite educational campaigns by the railways and the Government, Canada, in the fourth year of the war, continues to pay too high a price for human folly and carelessness. Accidents at railway crossings in Canada for the first eight months of 1942 numbered 219, took a toll of 87 killed and 255 injured. Death, in the above drawing, watches the crossing, her fruitful hunting ground, to snatch up the innocent babe who has paid the price of folly. Statistics show that these accidents can be prevented by observing elementary rules of safety.

Famous Actor's Performance, Described By New Kind Of Critic

William Faversham was playing in "The Squaw Man" in St. Louis. The dramatic critic on a certain morning newspaper described in considerable detail how Mr. Faversham wore his hair and the way his neck was shaved. His acting was scarcely mentioned. Later in the week a cub reporter on the same journal interviewed the actor and among other things, inquired, "What did you think of the criticism of your play in our paper?"

"Well," replied Faversham, "I have played 'The Squaw Man' in every important city in the United States, but this is the first time a barber was ever sent to criticize the play."

Guerrillas Well Armed And Trained Are Carrying On Warfare

In the last two years, says the Sault Daily Star, a fifth of the 7,000,000 people of Greece have perished. But still fighting bitterly are the 30,000 Greek guerrillas, along with some 3,000 British and Aussies who weren't evacuated. According to an Italian Black Shirt High Command document which has reached London, they are well armed and trained in guerrilla warfare. It added: "They are composed of men who will not stop at anything. They do not go only against the lonely sentry and the small picket, but also against the military garrison of superior strength."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 29

THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH
Golden text: As the Father hath sent me, even so send I you. John 20:21.
Lesson: Matthew 18:15-17; Acts 18:2-42; 6:1-4; 11:27-30; 13:1-3; 1 John 1:3.
Devotional Reading: Galatians 6:1-10.

Explanations and Comments
Church Government, Matthew 18:15-17. These verses describe three ways of a church in dealing with a member who sins. One who is guilty of a moral offense and thus of bringing dishonor upon the church and upon his Master should first be expostulated with privately by the one who knows about the offense or who has suffered because of it. "He owes the trespassing brother the charitable deed of a fraternal remonstrance." If the guilty one pays heed to the reproff he who thus brings home to him his fault will have gained a friend.

It is no light task to rebuke an erring fellow member in the right spirit and in a helpful way, and many those who should never attempt it. It requires the greatest tact and is unjustifiable without the fullest knowledge of what has been the wrong committed. In Luke's Gospel Jesus says, "If thy brother sin, rebuke him," but in the next sentence he counsels forgiveness no fewer than seven times.

If the erring brother will not listen to the admonition, then let the group method be tried, let two or more join in reasoning with him. One cannot think that Jesus would here counsel a man to tell other church members of a "sin against himself." "He that goeth about as a tale-bearer revealeth secrets," but he that is of a faithful spirit encephaleth a matter," we are old in Proverbs. A sin, however, that must eventually become known to the church if the sinner does not reform, should next be dealt with by three or more church members.

Should the second method, too, fail, then the matter must be brought to the church. The church is the final court of appeal. If the sinner is still unmoved, unrepentant, then let him be as the Gentile and the publican, that is, let the church have nothing further to do with him, let him be excommunicated.

The Source of Power and the Great Commission of the Church, Acts 1:5. Jesus promised his disciples that power would be given them, and said they were to continue his work, bear witness for him in Jerusalem and all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

"Yes, smart chap," replied the sergeant, "and you're the latest model!"
